PASTOR FINDS WOMEN WARY

Rev. Dr. Gear, Late of Maryland, Tries an Ad.

Is Pleased with First Feminine Respondent, Who Seeks News Instead of Husband.

Special to The Washington Herald, New York, Feb. 1 .- Because he boldly inquired at a newspaper office if advertisements for wives were printed. Rev Dr J. Holwell Gear, fresh from the die cese of Maryland, is to-day the idol of Catham square, the hero of Chinatown and object of general publicity.

Having a three years' intermission be tween rectorships, Dr. Gear took up quar ters in the Salvation Army Hotel, in Chatham square, where he has been officiating at meetings and has proved generally helpful to everybody. The matter is wearing heavily upon the Rev. Dr. J. Holwell Gear,

"I cannot see why so small a matter should cause such a stir," he said to a reporter. "All I do is to make a request for information, and all New York must know what is passing in my mind." "Oh, you are planning matrimony

A woman reporter, newly "ordained," arrived at the Salvation Army Hotel at a paychological moment and, not revealing her identity, was ushered into Dr. Gear's

Although the clergyman's hair is quite flaked with time, he is smooth-shaven and youthful of countenance, and his face flushed with anticipation as he greeted his visitor.

"First answer to the ad.." was the whis per that went around the office, and the waiting reporters edged to the partition of the inner office and listened. After a breathless wait a pretty feminine voice

What did you say your age was?" "I didn't say. Really, I don't believe i is essential. Do you?"

"We reporters are expected to ask "Oh, you're a reporter, are you? I thought---

The reporters beyond the partition kicked themselves for joy as they fancied they heard a choking sound as the sentence went unfinished.

LAWSON BACKS ROOSEVELT.

Offers to Wager $100,000 to $75,000 on Third-term Election.

Boston, Feb. 1 .- A bet of $100,000 against $75,000 is the offer Tom Lawson made today to back up his confidence that President Roosevelt will get a third term. This has been Lawson's doctrine all along, but yesterday's message to Congress, he says, clinches things.

"It's bully," was the way Lawson characterized the message.
